Upcoming courses – Register now!

MARCH 2025

Arbitration Training Course

Our AIFLAM Arbitration training course will be held on Friday 21 March, online via Zoom. Successful completion of the course will entitle attendees to be listed as a Family Law Arbitrator pursuant to Regulation 67B of the Family Law Regulations. This course is open to AIFLAM Members and Members of the Legal Profession generally.

MAY 2025

NMAS Mediation Training Course

Looking to become a nationally accredited Mediator? Our next full NMAS Mediation Training Course is running Tuesday 6 - Saturday 10 May and Saturday 17 May, online via Zoom. This interactive and practical program is designed to give participants the knowledge and skills required to practice family law mediation with confidence and professionalism. Register here.

NMAS Mediation Refresher and Assessment Days

Our NMAS Mediation Refresher and Assessment Days will run on Friday 30 and Saturday 31 May, online via Zoom. Day one will provide a review and refresher of contemporary approaches to facilitative mediation. Day two will comprise coaching and assessment for those NMAS accredited mediators seeking to renew or re-accredit. Register here.

Participants may do day one only, for CPD purposes. The day will provide up to 7 CPD hours, and is suitable for:

- NMAS accredited mediators
- Family Dispute Resolution Practitioners
- NMAS accredited mediators who did not train recently through AIFLAM/UWA and would like an introduction to the AIFLAM mediation model.

Participants should register for the full two day program if:

- You are recently AIFLAM trained, and you do not have the required mediation hours to renew your accreditation

- Your accreditation has lapsed, or
- You are an FDRP who did not previously complete the NMAS assessment.

If you have any questions regarding courses or need assistance with your registration or AIFLAM membership, contact the AIFLAM team on mail@aiflam.org.au or 1300 511 916.
