

Scientific publishing in the alcohol and other drug field: how to get published and tips for the future

Anne Marie Laslett<sup>1</sup>, Robin Room<sup>1</sup>, Paul Dietze<sup>2</sup>, Michael Livingston<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Latrobe University, Bundoora, Australia, <sup>2</sup> National Drug Research Institute, Melbourne, Australia

Presenter's email: pauld@burnet.edu.au

This workshop brings together Editors and Editorial Board members from three significant journals in the alcohol and other drug field, Drug and Alcohol Review, Addiction and the International Journal of Alcohol and other Drug Research.

The workshop is designed for early-mid career researchers where the basics of scientific publishing will be covered including a description of article processing procedures and tips for writing journal articles.

The workshop will then provide an update from the annual meeting of the International Society of Addiction Journal Editors. This will include a scan of the current publishing landscape that is revolutionising academic publishing.

The session will include Editorial Board members from the three Journals and be presented in a Q&A format to encourage discussion and debate and inclusion of the audience.