

Young Māori women and long-acting reversible contraception (LARCs): Barriers to access in primary care

Dr Alison Green

Introduction

- Qualitative study
- Counties Manukau DHB
- Young Māori women
- Primary health professionals

Aims

- Influence health policy and resource allocation
- Knowledge mobilisation

Issue

- Barriers to LARCs poorly understood
- Promotion of LARCs and resourcing inequities?

Process

- Te Kaha o te Rangatahi
- Key stakeholders
- Policymakers

Outcomes

- Full proposal completed February 2019
- 18 month study
- Thanks to Health Research Council of NZ for development grant

alison@tewhariki.org.nz

