

Point of Care and home-based testing

The presentation will provide information on the background and history to the availability of Point of Care (PoC) and home-based HIV testing in Australia, populations that benefit from different types of HIV testing, and these HIV testing technologies in the context of comprehensive STI testing.