

Future HIV testing models to reduce undiagnosed HIV

Undiagnosed HIV disproportionately contributes to onward transmission. This talk will explore various HIV testing models to reach those testing infrequently or not at all. This will include discussions about optimizing distribution of HIV self-testing kits, community-based rapid testing services and self-sampling models.

Learning objective: Participants will understand the variety of HIV testing options available.