Abbotsford Private Hospital

Abbotsford Private is Western Australia's only dedicated private, inpatient hospital for the treatment of addictive disorders and comorbid mental health concerns. The hospital provides a 77-bed inpatient service linked with a day therapy program for 36 patients, and is fully accredited by the Australian Council on Healthcare Standards.

In 2024, as part of a major hospital redevelopment, the service expanded to include TMS, Esketamine for Treatment Resistant Depression, and includes a dedicated young adult unit for patients aged 16 and over, with much-needed inpatient treatment and day therapy programs specifically for adolescents and young adults.
