QUANTUM AUSTRALIA CONFERENCE 2026

Quantum for Impact: Unlocking Productivity

Solving industry's big challenges for economic growth

Quantum Australia Conference 2026 brings together global quantum leaders, industry decision-makers, researchers, and investors to show how quantum is delivering results today. From healthcare and defence to energy, mining, and finance, you'll see real examples of productivity gains, commercial opportunities, and economic returns.

With developers and end-users on stage, the program dives into both the technology and its applications, where partnerships form, strategies take shape, and ideas move from lab to market. You'll also find sessions on capital raising for researchers and entrepreneurs, plus an exhibition showcasing the latest quantum capabilities.

Hosted in the heart of Adelaide, South Australia, a growing hub for defence, space, and advanced manufacturing, the conference highlights quantum's role in sovereign capability, economic productivity, and global competitiveness.

Quantum Australia

Born from a collaborative effort between industry, academia and government to advance Australia's quantum capabilities, Quantum Australia was established in July 2024 as the national industry growth centre for quantum technology.

We are Australia's front door to the quantum industry, creating a pipeline of new ventures, diverse talent, real-world use cases and partnerships. Backed by the Department of Industry, Science and Resources, state governments, and 13 University partners, we represent Australia's quantum interests on the global stage, offering a unified voice for our entire quantum ecosystem.

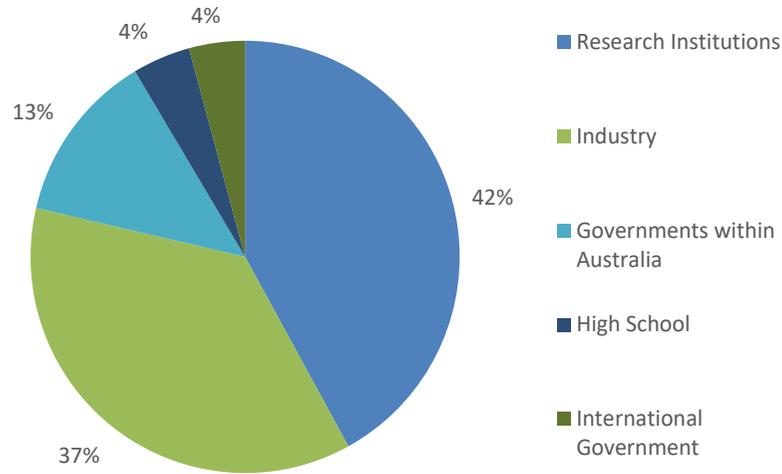

Our ambition is to fundamentally shift the dial on the translation of quantum technology.
