Rebecca Slingo

General Manager Education and Events | ANZIIF

Rebecca Slingo is a highly experienced education and professional development leader, with nearly three decades in learning and over 21 years working within the insurance industry.

As General Manager, Education and Events at ANZIIF, she has led the development of industry-relevant education programs, working closely with insurers, brokers, and global partners to translate complex technical knowledge into practical, applied learning.

Rebecca is known for her focus on capability uplift across the sector, designing learning that improves real-world performance in areas like client advice, risk understanding, and claims outcomes. Drawing on both her deep industry insight and contemporary learning science, she brings a pragmatic, no-nonsense perspective on how brokers can build stronger expertise, stay relevant in a changing market, and ultimately deliver better value to their clients.,
