Drew Brauer

Founder – Kick On | Actor | Musician

Drew is an energetic, relatable facilitator who uses humour to break the ice and help people feel comfortable showing up as themselves. He believes the best conversations – and the biggest growth – happen when people feel at ease, supported and challenged just enough.

With experience in working with young adults and “grown ups”, Drew brings a practical, real work approach shaped by a diverse career across FIFO work, music, business and real estate investment. He is also the founder of Kick On, a mental health charity focussed on encouraging open conversations, resilience and connection.

Drew balances warmth and professionalism, creating spaces that are engaging, honest and purposeful. Facilitating alongside his good friend Marc Harbrow, he is passionate about mentoring people through shared experience, straight-talk, and a bit of laughter – because growth doesn't have to be heavy to be meaningful.
