

United Nations
Association of Australia
NSW Division

Ben Lee,
Principal, LEE.ADV | PEACEBUILDING

Ben Lee is an international lawyer and accredited mediator with more than two decades of experience in international negotiations, peacebuilding, diplomacy, human rights and crisis leadership.

Ben served with the United Nations in Afghanistan, Cambodia, Iraq, Myanmar and with the UN's Syria Commission of Inquiry. He led investigations into alleged atrocities, monitored prisons, engaged with armed actors and advised senior officials.

Ben was also a negotiator for Australia at the UN in Geneva, leading on Syria, Sudan, climate change and other high profile resolutions. Before this, he was an advisor on Northern Ireland's bill of rights process and partnered with Pacific nations to establish independent human rights institutions.

Most recently, Ben has supported Myanmar's pro-democracy movement with its UN negotiations and diplomacy. His specialist mediation practice helps institutions, workplaces and community organisations to resolve conflicts in durable ways.

Ben serves on a number of advisory boards and committees including the United Nations Association of Australia (NSW) and the Sydney Peace Foundation. Visit leeadv.com.

UN at 80 | SHAPING OUR FUTURE TOGETHER CONFERENCE