

Matthew Cox
Executive Director
The Bryan Foundation

Matthew Cox is the Executive Director at The Bryan Foundation, a Queensland-based philanthropic foundation.

He is the Co-chair of the Early Years Partnership in WA, a member of the Federal Government's Economic Inclusion Advisory Committee and is involved with many child development and place-based social change initiatives, including the Thriving Queensland Kids Partnership and the Investment Dialogue for Australia's Children with the Commonwealth Government.

Previously Matthew was the founding director at Logan Together, a large place-based child development initiative in Queensland and before that spent a decade leading Australian Red Cross' community services in Queensland.

Earlier he worked in local government and in marketing and communications.
