Hope moves us forward together

Can cultural safety be embedded in our health system?

Cultural safety has been part of our professional medical landscape for the past 30 years. Is it embedded now? Do our doctors know what it is and how it applies to their work and our communities? What will water and nurture the cultural safety narrative, and what poisons the well?

Kiri Rikihana (Ngāti Raukawa ki te Tonga, Te Āti awa ki Whakarongotai, and Ngāti Toa Rangatira ) Manukura Tuarua | Deputy CEO Te Kaunihera Rata o Aotearoa | Medical Council of New Zealand will examine the cultural safety landscape and the challenges facing the Council's Cultural Safety statement in our current health landscape.
