More than 40 years of Palliative Care at home

Silverchain's Palliative Care service has provided multiple generations of Australians with access to quality palliative care in their homes.

Since we began providing palliative care in people's homes and communities in Western Australia and South Australia in the early 1980s, our service is now nationally and internationally recognised for our outstanding outcomes.

According to the Productivity Commission, approximately 70% of Australians would prefer to die at home but only 15% are able to do so.

In FY24, our holistic approach provided a gold standard of care to approximately 7,000 Australians across Australia. Almost 60% of clients who died were able to do so in the comfort and safety of their own homes.

Our innovative service is defined by a dedicated team who provide complete care with compassion and unwavering commitment to our clients.

Our palliative care service is accredited under the Australian Council on Healthcare Standards using the National Safety and Quality Health Service Standards. Combined with our expert multidisciplinary team, you can trust your patients are in safe hands with Silverchain.
