

The Official Tertiary Credential Platform For Australia and New Zealand

Making Tertiary Credentials and Awards, Easy to View, Share and Verify! A Single Source of Truth Accepted All Over The World.

My eQuals was conceived in 2015 as a combined Australian and New Zealand higher education sector response to the Groningen Declaration and its commitment to Digital Student Data portability. It recognised the need for education institutions to have an easy and secure place to store and issue official qualification records. It also recognised the need for learners to have an easy and secure place to view and share those same qualification records with third parties.

Owned and Operated by the Education Sector

From the very beginning, My eQuals embodied a collaborative national approach. The achievements since have been beyond expectations. All Australian and New Zealand universities along with a number of new vocational and training institutions now issue secure digital credentials through the platform including transcripts, testamurs, AHEGS, Statements of Attainment (VET) and official letters.

Improved student experience in one secure, online environment

My eQuals makes life easier for students, graduates and alumni by taking away the hassle of keeping physical copies of credentials, making copies, getting them certified and posting them when applying for a job or further study. Everything is online and available anywhere, anytime.

Trusted globally

My eQuals is accepted worldwide, with more than 2 million students, graduates and alumni sharing more than 7 million tertiary documents and credentials to employers, recruiters and verification agencies across 135 countries to date.

2.8 Million
Learner accounts created currently and growing!

10 Million
academic records
(credentials) issued

135 Countries
Accepting verified records