

Elizabeth Guerra-Stolfa
Partner, Rigby Cooke Lawyers

Elizabeth Guerra-Stolfa is the leader of Rigby Cooke Lawyers' Litigation & Dispute Resolution group. With over 35 years of experience, she specialises in complex superior court & specialist tribunal litigation, Royal Commission hearings, mediation and alternative dispute resolution. Her practice includes all areas of commercial litigation, including contractual disputes, family business disputes, competition law, franchising disputes, property and retail leasing disputes, and professional negligence claims.

Elizabeth combines her extensive experience and commercial acumen to ensure that all disputes are managed in a strategic and focussed way to achieve her client's commercial objective and contribute to their success.

Elizabeth is a longstanding Specialist Accredited Family Business Advisor with Family Business Association and an Accredited Mediator. Her facilitative style recognises that underlying relationships and tensions are just as important as the overriding legal considerations when trying to resolve a dispute.

The secret to her successes with her clients is her ability to thread steadfastly the eye of even the most challenging of needles.
