

Presenter Terms and Conditions

By agreeing to present and attend at this RACGP event, you agree to be subject to the following terms and conditions:

RACGP Values and Integrity

You agree to conduct your presentation of material in compliance with all relevant laws and codes of practice and in a manner that aligns with RACGP, and its values as explained to you.

In addition, you agree that you will not interfere with or compromise the independence or integrity of RACGP and its representatives and the event purpose and goal.

Your actions and words must represent inclusivity, regarding gender, cultural background, sexual orientation, age or any other characteristic that is considered to exclude or marginalise those that have any physical or mental disabilities or those belonging to other minority groups.

Submission and approval of presentation

You must prepare and submit to RACGP your presentation (including abstract, presentation paper, PowerPoint presentation, handouts or any other materials in connection with your presentation) for RACGP's approval.

RACGP may provide submission criteria, guidelines and templates for the submission of presentations. A presentation must be submitted to RACGP within the timeframe specified by RACGP and in accordance with any templates specified in the submission form or in any other approved format as specified by RACGP from time to time.

Your presentation must be original. If you wish to submit a presentation that is not original or has been published previously you must tell us in writing prior to, or at the time of, your submission.

Approval for you to present your presentation at this RACGP event is at RACGP's sole and absolute discretion.

Costs and Expenses

If RACGP approves your presentation, you (or at least one co-author) must present the presentation in person at the event. You must arrange and pay for any accommodation, travel and expenses in connection with attending the event and presenting your presentation. RACGP is under no obligation to pay any amounts to you in connection with the preparation or presenting the presentation.

You may be eligible to receive a discount registration to attend the event as a delegate.

Intellectual Property

You agree that have all necessary authorisations, permissions approvals and consents to submit your presentation to RACGP and to make the presentation at a RACGP event.

You agree that by submitting the presentation material or making the presentation you will not infringe the intellectual property rights or moral rights of any person.

You indemnify RACGP (its employees and personnel) against all claims, losses, liabilities, damages, fines, expenses and costs (including legal costs), incurred by RACGP in connection with any third party claim that your presentation infringes a third party's intellectual property rights or other rights.

You agree that your presentation material may be made available to delegates attending this event, unless otherwise agreed with RACGP.

You agree that RACGP or any other relevant party (including members and sponsors) may publish or promote details of this event which may include details such as your name, image and presentation information and any other details connected with the event for any purpose including marketing and providing information to those corporates and persons such as members, sponsors or the public.

You acknowledge that RACGP owns and retains ownership of the RACGP name, logo and trademarks without limitation. RACGP grants to you a non-exclusive, non-transferable, royalty free, personal licence to use the RACGP name, logo and trademarks provided to you, to the extent necessary to promote and utilise in your presentation at this event.

In addition, you acknowledge the ownership of all intellectual property owned, licenced or developed by any other presenter, or person or corporate connected to the event and you will be subject to intellectual property laws of ownership and will not have rights to that material.

You grant to RACGP a non-exclusive, royalty free, non-irrevocable licence to take and record, copy, reproduce or take images (digital or otherwise) of you and your presentation at the event, which RACGP may reproduce or promote on or via its website, the event website or app (including any on demand services), any printed medium and any social media, blogs and printed articles or such other method as RACGP determines, following this event.

You must obtain RACGP's permission prior to any intended use by you of any material gathered by you at the event including photographs, recordings or images. Please note that RACGP will not grant any permission to any material associated with any other presenter.

Risk Management

You release RACGP from any action, suits, proceedings, claims, demands, costs and expenses, incurred in connection with our acts, omissions or negligence in connection with these terms and conditions or any event. You agree to indemnify the RACGP its employees, agents, contactors and sub-contractors against, and agree to make good, any action, suits, proceedings, claims, demands, costs and expenses (including legal costs, professional costs and other expenses on a full indemnity basis), incurred in connection with these terms and conditions. Any such amount is a debt due and payable within thirty (30) business days of request.

Confidentiality and Privacy

You will keep all information on the RACGP's business and operations as disclosed to you by the RACGP a secret and must not use the confidential information except as necessary for the purposes of your event presentation.

You will ensure the privacy of all presenters, sponsors and delegates and any person and corporate in attendance at this event.

Cancellation

If for any reason you need to cancel your attendance as a presenter at this event, we would appreciate if you would let us know as a matter of priority. If you are a registered delegate for the event and you wish to cancel your event attendance, please refer to the delegate terms and conditions for further information.

RACGP may at any time change the format, location, timing or any other aspect of the event or your presentation. RACGP may also postpone or cancel the event or any part of the event. RACGP will not be liable to you for any damages, costs, losses or expenses incurred or by you as a result of any change, postponement or cancellation of your presentation, the event or any part of the event.