The Clean Air Society of Australia and New Zealand (CASANZ) is pleased to present the 28th International Clean Air and Environment (Clean Air) Conference, incorporating the Asia-Pacific Odour Conference, taking place in Cairns, Queensland from 31 Aug – 2 Sep 2026.

Following the success of combining these two conferences in 2024, and in the spirit of creating even greater connections and elevating value for our sponsors, exhibitors and delegates, we're doing it all again!

From the very first Clean Air Conference in 1962, held in the wake of the NSW Clean Air Act and designed to spark national dialogue on air emissions, through to today, CASANZ conferences have brought together scientists, regulators, industry leaders and changemakers from across Australia, New Zealand, and beyond.

In August 2026, we're heading to FNQ to celebrate that legacy — and everything we've achieved together over six decades of science, policy, and professional progress.

Join us in Cairns for what promises to be a relaxed and inspiring gathering.

This year's program will celebrate our journey, spotlight what's next for air quality and odour, and bring our community together in true FNQ style — colourful shirts, sea breezes and all.

Mark your calendar. Dust off your best Hawaiian shirt. And be part of a conference that's all about connection, reflection and what lies ahead.

We can't wait to welcome you.

Offset emissions. Amplify your impact.

CASANZ is proud to continue its commitment to climate action by offering a Carbon Neutral Sponsorship opportunity for the 2026 conferences. First introduced in 2024, this initiative saw us take meaningful steps toward carbon neutrality by calculating the full footprint of our Hobart events — including travel, accommodation, catering, and venue energy use — and offsetting those emissions through the Improved Cook Stoves, Malawi project. This certified program reduces deforestation, improves indoor air quality, and supports families in a developing nation through the supply of efficient, low-emission cookstoves.

In 2026, we're building on that momentum. By supporting this sponsorship, you'll help us:

- Purchase certified carbon offsets to cover emissions generated by the conference
- Continue investing in high-quality, internationally verified climate projects
- Raise awareness of the connection between air quality and climate change
- Demonstrate industry leadership on social responsibility

Support CASANZ in making the 2026 conference carbon neutral — and inspire action across the sector.
