

SPEAKER PROFILE

Peter Veit

.....
University Professor
Graz University of Technology

Peter Veit is a distinguished Austrian expert in railway engineering and transport economics, with over four decades of academic and professional experience. He completed his PhD in technical sciences at the Graz University of Technology, where he later served as Professor and Head of the Institute of Railway Engineering and Transport Economy until his retirement in October 2024. His work has focused on life cycle costing, infrastructure asset management, and track maintenance optimization, with projects and advisory roles across Europe and Asia. He has collaborated with organizations such as the Austrian Federal Railways and the Asian Development Bank, contributing to railway infrastructure strategy and capacity development.

