SPEAKER PROFILE

David Moncholí i Badillo

Director of Mobility & Transport
IDOM

Civil Engineer (specialised in Transport and Spatial Planning) from the Polytechnic University of Valencia, with over 23 years' experience as a consultant in the fields of mobility planning and public transport systems, having advised numerous transport authorities and public administrations on the design of bespoke solutions and proposals to address their mobility needs and challenges. Expert transport modeller. Experience working for international financial organisations and donors, such as the EU, the EIB, the IBRD, the World Bank, the ADB, the IDB, CAF, the FDN, Banobras, the IABS, GIZ and AFD, amongst others. Specific professional experience in the following disciplines: Sustainable mobility, (development of numerous Sustainable Urban Mobility Plans - SUMPs); Design and tendering of public transport networks; Active mobility; Electric mobility in major cities in LatinAmerica and Europe; Big Data, transport and geographic information systems; Feasibility studies and structuring projects for PPPs in public transport infrastructure; Transport policy.