The World Bank Group

Dr. David Hawkes is currently Manager of External Investigations at the World Bank Group's Integrity Vice Presidency (INT). As a former senior public prosecutor (Oberstaatsanwalt) in Berlin/Germany and a management team member in INT, David has more than 30 years of experience leading people and policy in anti-corruption investigations, prevention and sanctions in a rule-of-law and development context. The focus of David's investigative work is the integration and deployment of multi-disciplinary, diverse teams of investigators, attorneys, forensic accountants, IT specialists and analysts at national and transnational levels. He has also overseen and led the development of preventative and risk-based advisory systems and services for public- and private sector operations of the World Bank Group.

In his previous role in charge of INT's Special Litigation Unit, David set up and led the first unit with a primary focus on fraud and corruption sanctions in an International Organization, litigating well over 400 sanctions cases during his tenure. David is also a leading expert on the privileges and immunities of International Organizations.
