

Natalie Iniguez

World Trade Organization

Natalie Iniguez has more than a decade of experience working in and for international organizations, focusing on investigations and legal issues related to employment matters and dispute resolution. Since 2020, she has served as the Investigator at the World Trade Organization (WTO), where she handles cases of fraud, harassment, abuse of authority, discrimination, and confidentiality breaches, among others. She also conducts inspections (investigative reviews) and reviews internal policies. Nathalie is also an active member of the CII Training Initiative.

Before joining the WTO, she was in private practice, conducting investigations and offering legal advice to international organizations, as well as preparing briefs submitted to the Administrative Tribunal of the International Labour Organization (ILOAT).

She has worked at the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) and in international law firms in Paris, Beirut, and Geneva. Nathalie is a qualified lawyer (New York and Massachusetts). She is passionate about enhancing efficiency while ensuring adherence to legal obligations.

