

2025 ASIAN REGIONAL FORUM ON INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE RESERVES

8-10 OCTOBER | DILIJAN, ARMENIA

EREKLE TSIVTSIVADZE

Deputy Head
Financial Markets Department
National Bank of Georgia

Erekle Tsivtsivadze has served as Deputy Head of the Financial Markets Department at the National Bank of Georgia (NBG) since November 2014. With over 25 years of experience at NBG, he has held a range of leadership roles, including Head of the Risk Management and Control Division (Middle Office), Chief Economist, and Deputy Head of External Debt Management and International Finances Division.

Throughout his career, Mr. Tsivtsivadze has contributed significantly to the development and implementation of strategic initiatives within the Financial Markets Department. His responsibilities include overseeing departmental activities, shaping strategy, introducing new models and methods, and leading processes related to operational risk management and information security.

He is an active member of several key committees at NBG, including the Reserve Management Committee, Internal Procedures Committee, Risk Management Committee (non-financial), and Information Security Committee.

Mr. Tsivtsivadze holds both a Bachelor's and Master's degree in International Economic Relations from Georgian Technical University in Tbilisi. He also studied at the University of Limerick in Ireland in 1999. He is a regular contributor to financial sector discussions and conferences in the region.