

2025 ASIAN REGIONAL FORUM ON INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE RESERVES

8-10 OCTOBER | DILIJAN, ARMENIA

ITARU FUJIEDA

Deputy Director/Head of Investments
Office of Foreign Exchange Reserve Management
Ministry of Finance, Japan

Itaru Fujieda is the Deputy Director and Head of Investments at the Foreign Reserve Management Office of Japan's Ministry of Finance. He is responsible for managing Japan's foreign exchange reserves, with a strong focus on integrating sustainability principles into investment strategies.

With over 13 years of experience in fixed income portfolio management, Itaru leads a team of portfolio managers and oversees a multi-currency investment fund. His role includes strategic decision-making, risk management, and the development of ESG-aligned investment practices. Prior to this, he specialized in market and credit risk strategies and comprehensive risk management.

Mr. Fujieda holds a Bachelor of Arts in Education from Tokyo Gakugei University and brings a deep understanding of both financial markets and sustainable investing to his current role.
