SUKHUMARN PHANACHET

Deputy Treasurer
Treasury Department
Asian Development Bank

Sukhumarn Phanachet assumed the position of Deputy Treasurer in September 2020. She provides support to the Treasurer in planning, implementing, and supervising department's goals and strategies to ensure ADB's continued financial strength and steady growth in financial sources in support of ADB's overall mission.

She has been with ADB since 1998 where she held progressively responsible assignments on financial policies, financial management for and replenishment of the Asian Development Fund, capital increase implementation, cash controls, SWIFT system management and a short stint as Senior Financial Analyst/ Financial Management Specialist in the Southeast Asia Department. She was the Assistant Treasurer of the Treasury Services Division, where she managed a variety of treasury operations activities, including cash management, bonds and derivatives management, transaction banking (settlements, and payments), treasury systems management, organizational resilience, and was heavily involved in digital agenda.

She has 30 years of professional experience in international financial institution, corporate banking, and fund management. Prior to joining ADB, she set up private fund management business, managed mutual and private funds, and conducted equity research. She started her career in auditing in Price Waterhouse and shifted to corporate banking with Citibank, N.A., before diversifying into fund management.

Ms. Phanachet obtained a bachelor's degree in Accounting (First Class Honors) from Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok, Thailand, an MBA in International Finance from the University of British Columbia, Canada, and is a CFA Charter holder.
