

Alex Boone

European Investment Bank

Alex Boone serves as Head of the Intake and Analysis Unit within the Investigation Division (IG/IN) at the European Investment Bank. He oversees the assessment of allegations related to prohibited conduct, including fraud, corruption, and internal misconduct, to determine if sufficient evidence exists to initiate an investigation. Additionally, he manages open-source intelligence, operational analysis, and computer forensics for IG/IN.

With over 30 years of experience in national and international investigations and operational analysis, Alex's career includes significant roles at the European Anti-Fraud Office (OLAF), Europol, and the Belgian Federal Police.

Alex holds a Master's degree in Social Sciences with a focus on Intelligence Analysis from Manchester University and a postgraduate certification in Forensic Auditing from the University of Antwerp. He is also an active member of multiple professional associations.

