Over 20 years of turning complexity into clarity-across public transport, television, finance, mining, and more. I bridge the gap between strategic visio and real-world results. With expertise in corporate finance, financial modelling, M&A and stakeholder alignment, I've led diverse teams to solve tough problems in industries that move people, markets and economies. At this workshop, I'm here to apply that same hands-on, cross-sector lens to the future of public transport
