

SPEAKER PROFILE

Gian Marcelino

Communications and Knowledge
Specialist (Consultant)
Asian Development Bank

Gian Marcelino is a Communications and Knowledge Specialist with over a decade of experience in development, spanning Southeast Asia and global initiatives. She supports programs of the Asian Development Bank, driving strategic communications and knowledge engagement for sustainable infrastructure, green finance, and energy transition, including the ASEAN Catalytic Green Finance Facility and the ASEAN Power Grid. She shapes high-level narratives, leads communication strategies, and delivers knowledge products that inform policy, mobilize partnerships, and translate complex technical work into clear, actionable insights. Her work spans regional and global programs in collaboration with partners such as USAID, as well as experience working with Philippine government stakeholders to support local implementation. Gian holds a master's degree in Community Development and focuses on strengthening the communication and application of development insights and evidence to advance climate-resilient and inclusive growth.
