Joint Technical Symposium 2026

3 – 4 MARCH 2026 | NATIONAL FILM AND SOUND ARCHIVE OF AUSTRALIA

A message from the organisers

The Joint Technical Symposium (JTS) is an international scientific and technical event for professionals engaged in the preservation and management of audiovisual collections. Organised every few years since 1983 by the Coordinating Council of Audiovisual Archives Associations (CCAAA), it provides an opportunity for colleagues around the world and those interested in the field to meet and share information about the preservation of original image and sound materials.

JTS provides an opportunity for audiovisual archiving, digitisation and conservation professionals from different backgrounds to come together, share new and upcoming technical advances in our field, and to go beyond the boundaries of specific formats or domains. It is an opportunity to inform and collaborate with each other, to share expertise from across the world and to contribute to the development of the next generation of audiovisual professionals.

JTS 2026 will take place in Canberra 3-4 March 2026 at the National Film and Sound Archive of Australia (NFSA).

The 11th JTS will bring together research, technical innovations and developments in the technology used to preserve audiovisual materials. JTS 2026 will be the first opportunity in six years to gather in person, and the first time the symposium will be held in Australia. A key topic of interest for JTS 2026 is research and innovation in collection preservation in response to climate change, with a focus on the challenges of conservation and preservation of audiovisual materials in the Asia-Pacific region. Consideration of scientific and technical advances balance with world-wide advances in balance with world-wide sustainability goals will also be under discussion. As analogue audiovisual collections age, we are also interested in mitigation of risks to people and collections from decomposition and degradation. How do we ensure safety in the archive?

Get involved

This prospectus outlines various ways in which you can support the symposium, network with colleagues, and increase your exposure within the industry. For an out of the box tailor-made sponsorship package, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Venue

JTS 2026 will be hosted by the National Film and Sound Archive of Australia at our headquarters in Acton, Canberra on the traditional lands of the Ngunnawal people.

High quality scientific and technical program

The two-day program includes presentations by experienced professionals, innovative leaders and students in the audiovisual archiving and conservation profession.

We welcome proposals based on new initiatives, research collaborations, innovations that resulted in success or failure, and above all, proposals that share and build knowledge in audiovisual collections across the world.

Expand your network

200-240 in-person delegates are expected to attend from Australia and overseas, with an expectation that professional colleagues from the Asia Pacific region will be excited to attend. Re-connect with existing industry colleagues and clients, and make new connections, by attending JTS 2026.

Delegates include a diverse mix of:

- Conservators and preservation coordinators
- Collection managers
- Digitisation specialists
- Digital preservation specialists
- Engineering specialists
- Project and program managers
- Curators and archivists
- Collection systems and data specialists
- Archive managers and directors
