Modern Management Practices for End Point Devices On or Off the Network
Presenter: Aaron Polley

In the current environment, it is imperative to enable efficient end-point provisioning, deployment, ongoing management, redeployment, and end of life transitions for devices used by both staff and students. With the recent Apple and Microsoft drive towards integrated device hardware, firmware, operating systems, and applications, this session will provide you with the knowledge and benefits that could be realised with a migration to new management platforms and processes. CompNow would like to offer all QuestNet University attendees a Modern Management Discovery workshop post the event.
