

CLAIRE MCCLELLAND

Member | National Food Council

Claire McClelland is a corporate affairs and public policy leader with extensive experience across Australia's horticulture sector. A member of the National Food Council, she is passionate about strengthening Australia's food security through resilient supply chains, practical policy and industry collaboration.