

ANTHEA HANCOCKS

CEO, Scanlon Foundation Research
Institute

Anthea Hancock is the CEO of the Scanlon Foundation Research Institute. The Institute is dedicated to making research into social cohesion accessible and understandable while maintaining the highest levels of research expertise and integrity. She has a background in leadership positions in government, professional services, academia, philanthropy and not for profit organisations.

Anthea is a Fellow of Monash University, a Civil Society and Public Administration Fellow with the Toronto Metropolitan University and a Fellow of the Australian Institute of Company Directors. Anthea has a Bachelor of Science, a Master of Arts, an MBA and is a PhD candidate at Monash University.