

LTCOL JAN ELDEBLAD

Defence Attaché, Embassy of Sweden

Lieutenant Colonel Jan Eldeblad is Sweden's Defence Attaché to Australia and New Zealand since August 2024. His last background is from the Swedish Defence University where he was in charge of Executive Education, a department that have a history of educating the whole Total Defence system actors since 1952 with yearly courses since then. Jan has been engaged in many startup activities such as running strategic Wargaming as a method for increasing decision making among involved actors, responsible and developer for the first years of Hanaholmen initiative which have brought through education the key actors in the Swedish and Finish total Defence system together for common solutions and knowledge sharing. Jan have also been responsible for lessons learned from Ukraine, where he has been engaged into since 2012 and have spent recently a lot of time in.