The 2023 Nursing & Midwifery Leaders Conference is brought to you by

INVITATION

It is with great pleasure that we announce our 2023 AQNML Conference `Leaders Cultivating Connections – Plant, Nurture, Grow & Thrive`.

The AQNML has a long and proud history of connecting our Nursing and Midwifery Leaders and have been doing so for the past 73 years. Many of us have benefited from these supportive relationships, which have started and grown at our annual Conference. As the current and emerging leaders of our professions' future, we really are in the prime position to positively influence the culture and learning environments for those in our stewardship and also those who will come after us.

This year's Conference aims to focus on building these professional connections as well as working together to address and discuss the workforce issues with our unique combination of Delegates from rural, regional and metropolitan areas across Queensland, in both the Public and Private sectors of healthcare.

On behalf of the 2023 Executive Committee, we look forward to welcoming the interest from prospective Sponsors and to continue to build relationships with those that have sponsored in the past. We have a range of various sponsorship levels and associated packages for the AQNML 2023 Conference and are happy to tailor a package that can be developed to best suit your business objectives.

This Conference also offers the opportunity for suppliers within the healthcare industry to showcase their products and services and we welcome your involvement.

On behalf of the AQNML Conference Committee, we look forward to warmly welcoming you as a Sponsor and/or Exhibitor at this year's Conference.
