Toxicology And Poisons Network Australasia

Toxic Issues in the ED 2025

By joining us you will take part in:

A 2-day state-of-the-art educational course exploring key topics in the management of acute poisoning in the Australasian context.

Why attend? This course offers interactive group talks and hands-on simulation, moving beyond traditional lectures. You'll learn from a teaching faculty of practicing Clinical Toxicologists and Poisons Information Specialists - the very experts you speak to when discussing complex poisonings with the Poisons Centre.

Key Topics include: Complex cardiotoxicity exposures, acid/base in poisoning, Evidence-based approach to snakebite and envenoming, toxic ECGs and management of the intoxicated, behaviourally disturbed patient.

Who Should Attend? Emergency Physicians, Emergency Medicine Trainees, Medical Specialists/Trainees of other critical care disciplines, Registered Nurses/Nurse Practitioners, Pharmacists and Paramedics.
