2.2. Tables

The tables must be placed as close as possible to their first reference, avoiding splitting across pages as much as possible. The tables will be horizontally centered on the page. The table columns will be centered if they contain numbers, and left aligned if they contain text. The vertical alignment will be centered. The table will be separated from the first paragraph below by 6pt line spacing below. Table text formatting: Tahoma, 10 pt, bold headings.

The table title must be written above the table preceded by the text "Table x", as in the example below. The table title will be separated from the text body by 6pt line spacing above. Table title formatting: Tahoma, 10 pt, bold, aligned to the left with the right side of the table.

Table 1. Table title

Column A	Column B	Column C	Column D	Column E
Text	x.xx	y	Text	Text
Text	x.xx	y	Text	Text

The tables must be referred to in the text body as "Table x" or Table 1, where x is an Arabic numeral.

2.3. Equations

If possible, the equations must be placed on the same page and close to their first reference. The equations will be aligned left. The equations will be separated from the text body by 6pt line spacing both above and below.

The equations will be written using an equation editor. Equation: Tahoma, 10 pt, italic.

$$a^2 + b^2 = c^2 \quad (1)$$

The equations will be identified by an Arabic numeral label, placed between round parentheses and referred to in the text body as "Eq. x".

References

All references will be listed in a separate section, at the end of the paper, titled "References". The section title will be separated from the text body by 12 pt line spacing both above and below and will not be numbered. Section title formatting: Tahoma, 11 pt, bold uppercase.

The list of references should only include works that are cited in the text and that have been published or accepted for publication. Personal communications and unpublished works should only be mentioned in the text. Do not use footnotes or endnotes as a substitute for a reference list. The entries in the list should be numbered consecutively.

External bibliographic sources will be referred to in the text by an Arabic numeral label, placed between square parentheses, as exemplified here [1]. The references will be numbered and listed consecutively, as they appear in the text. Each reference will be preceded by its reference number (Arabic numeral), followed by a dot and a "Tab" with a 10 mm tab stop. The books and articles published in languages other than English will be referred to in the original language and translated in English between parentheses. The following formatting rules apply:
