NAHH Annual Conference 2025

NAHH and The Compleat Group Ltd, who manage our events for us under contract will use the information you provide on your booking form, and any additional information you may subsequently provide to us in connection with your booking, for administering NAHH conferences and any other events.

We will not disclose this information to any other person or organisation, except in connection with these purposes, (or where we have a legal obligation or legitimate business interest to do so).

You should be aware that to fulfil these purposes:

- 1) All participants are provided with a list of their co-participants' names, job title and organisation, but no further details
- 2) Exhibitors and sponsors may be given the same list, on the basis that they may not share with or otherwise disclose the details to any third party
