

Dr Riaan van de Venter

Port Elizabeth, South Africa

Dr Riaan van de Venter is currently a lecturer and research associate at Nelson Mandela University in the Department of Radiography.

They have a background in diagnostic radiography, bioethics, health law and higher education. Riaan's research focuses on workforce development, advanced practice, education, trauma, wellbeing, as well as sexual and gender minorities.

They have presented and published numerous papers and book chapters at national and international levels.