Larissa and Marlon Scholtz (NICU Parents)

Larissa and Marlon are both young professionals working in corporate South Africa. Larissa is an admitted attorney working at an international audit company and Marlon is a corporate cash manager at a major international bank.

However, when you strip both of them from their respective work titles, the only title that ever mattered to them and their best achievement to date was given to them by their precious son Hayden Jahan Scholtz.

They were two voiceless parents who were swallowed whole by the Covid-19 pandemic, the NICU and the private healthcare system.
