

Dr Alex Stevenson

Harare , Zimbabwe

---

Alex Stevenson is a Zimbabwean neonatologist who completed his neontology training at UCT as an APFP fellow.

He is President of the African Neonatal Association which is a pan African group of over 200 neonatologists and paediatricians with special interests in neonatology, in over 40 African countries. The organisation grew out of an informal network of APFP neonatal trainees.

He is particularly interested in the use of data to improve the quality of care in low resource settings and is working on a collaboration between ANA and Vermont Oxford Network to improve data and quality of care in neonatal care in Africa.

He works in public and private in Harare , Zimbabwe and is married with three children.
