Accelerate Intelligence: harnessing internal expertise to improve assessment safely and compliantly

TUESDAY 24 JUNE 10:05-11:05

INNOVATION Zone

ABOUT THIS SESSION

This session from Accelerate People showcases how internal expertise in AI is being leveraged to enhance assessment processes safely, compliantly, and without relying on AI in the assessment itself. Learn how cutting-edge tools are transforming assessor training and operational efficiency within a regulated awarding environment.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND THIS SESSION

Gain insight into practical, compliant uses of GenAI to enhance quality, consistency, and efficiency in assessment delivery. See real examples of how AI can support, not replace, human expertise in the skills system.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND THIS SESSION

Quality assurance leads, assessment strategy managers, EPAOs, and awarding organisation professionals exploring the compliant use of AI to support assessment processes. Particularly relevant for those leading assessor training, digital transformation, or operational innovation within regulated environments.

SPEAKER OVERVIEW

Zac is Accelerate People's executive director, leveraging the experience he gained in senior leadership roles in two north east colleges to bring context to AP's engagement with providers. Zac has also previously held director level roles at the Awarding Organisation, NCFE. Zac sits on AP's Board, has senior responsibility for customer engagement, product development, compliance and is the company's Responsible Officer.

Si is Head of Assessment Technology, where he leads the development of AI-driven platforms to enhance apprenticeship assessments. With a background in quality assurance, edtech innovation, and data science, he brings deep expertise in data analytics and AI across multiple industries, from construction to finance.

Jono is Head of Customer Accounts, bringing valuable industry insight from his previous role as a quality manager at a training provider. Since joining Accelerate People over three years ago, Jono has established himself as a key team member, developing strong partnerships with clients and significantly contributing to the growth of Accelerate People.
