Assessment for Excellence to raise standards in the learning environment in partnership with NCFE

TUESDAY 24 JUNE

TEACHING & LEARNING Zone

ABOUT THIS SESSION

This interactive session explores how Assessment for Excellence—including pressure testing and competition-based learning—can raise standards across your training environment. Discover how membership in the WorldSkills UK Centre of Excellence can benefit your institution and enhance teaching and learning outcomes.

WHY YOU SHOULD ATTEND THIS SESSION

Experience a live pressure test, gain practical insights into world-class assessment methods, and learn how to access valuable resources through the Learning Lab. Leave with tools to better monitor skill progression and a clear route to joining the Centre of Excellence.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND THIS SESSION

Curriculum leads, quality managers, teaching staff, and training provider leaders committed to raising standards through innovative assessment methods. Particularly relevant for those looking to embed world-class teaching practices, monitor learner skill progression, and engage with the WorldSkills UK Centre of Excellence.

SPEAKER OVERVIEW

Adam McLane is a High Performance Skills Coach at WorldSkills UK and supports the FE training and skills sector by developing, designing and delivering high quality CPD and training for both educators and learners. Outside of work he likes to stay active and healthy, unwind by watching documentaries, and—some might say somewhat contradictorily—enjoy a good cup of coffee and a slice of cake.

Alan Stuart is the Senior Workforce Development Manager at WorldSkills UK, bringing 22 years of experience in start-ups and business founding, alongside 18 years in senior and directorial roles within higher education. His role at WorldSkills is to manage and support the delivery of the Centre of Excellence core offer of World Class Teacher Training and to support a range of projects and collaborations that evolve and enhance the standards of teaching and assessment across the further and higher educational sector. He is a lover of music; motorbikes; martial arts; mental health and well-being and messing about in the kitchen!
