The Prince's Trust is a charity in the United Kingdom founded in 1976 by Charles, Prince of Wales, to help vulnerable young people get their lives on track. It supports 11 to 30-year-olds who are unemployed and those struggling at school and at risk of exclusion. Many of the young people helped by The Trust are in or leaving care, facing issues such as homelessness or mental health problems, or have been in trouble with the law.

The Buffalo Foundation aims to make a lasting difference to those people less fortunate than ourselves through sport, education and the creation of future entrepreneurs. Especially children and young adults living in poverty. Young people denied the opportunities to become the best they can be, or even to just live a normal, healthy and happy life.

The Buffalo Foundation aims to reach as many of these people as possible, so that they can break that cycle of poverty, reach their potential, be self-sufficient and in turn, give back to their own communities.
