General information

EAGE Education Days

EAGE Education Days are events featuring multiple one-day and two-day short courses organized at various locations worldwide. The topics and instructors presented at Education Days are carefully selected by an expert education committee to cover the learning demand in the region and to ensure a consistent programme with appeal to multidisciplinary Geoscience audiences. Education Days are open for registrations to EAGE members and non-members, for whom the membership price is included in the registration fee. Special fees are available for attending multiple courses during EAGE Education Days. Make sure you check out the EAGE Calendar of Events at events.eage.org for Education Days coming to your region!
