GENERAL INFORMATION

EAGE

The European Association of Geoscientists and Engineers (EAGE) is a global professional, non-profit association for geoscientists and engineers with 19.000 members worldwide. The objective is to collect and distribute technical knowledge. EAGE organizes events and publishes a monthly magazine for its members and 5 scientific journals. All members of EAGE are professionally involved in (or studying) geophysics, petroleum exploration, geology, reservoir engineering, mining and mineral exploration, civil engineering, tunneling and environmental matters. EAGE's head office is located in the Netherlands with regional offices in Moscow, Dubai, Kuala Lumpur and Bogota.

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

High-performance computing continues to be an effective driving force of our energy business and, in the midst of the energy transition, it will help extend our knowledge boundaries by solving novel, complex and large-scale industrial computational problems. Since its inception, a decade ago, this workshop became a place to exchange and compare experiences all the while acting as a window into the latest upcoming and future evolutions of high-performance computing technologies for our industry. For its 10th year anniversary, the workshop will be held at KAUST in the Middle East where it originally started. A visit to the on-site datacenter is planned and will feature the newly installed Shaheen III supercomputer. The workshop generally consists of a single track event with poster session(s), a panel and built-in time for discussions. With a range of topics spanning the latest deep code optimizations up to practical applications of quantum computing, the technical committee is looking forward to your contribution at the workshop.
