WORKSHOP OVERVIEW

EAGE, AMGP (Asociación Mexicana de Geólogos Petroleros) and AMGE (Asociación Mexicana de Geofísicos de Exploración) have joined forces for the second time in the organization of the Second EAGE/AMGP/AMGE Latin-American Seminar in Unconventional Resources. This event will be held from 14-15 November 2019 in Mexico City.

The development, research and investment in Unconventional Resources have increased in the last decade. In Latin America, the potential within this topic has been widely recognized especially in Argentina, Mexico and Colombia. There is a need to attract national and international operators, qualified suppliers and expert investors to develop these unconventional resources in the region.

Oil & Gas Unconventionals in Latin America offers opportunities to explore and develop with environmental responsibilities in order to increase Hydrocarbon production and improve the trade balance. This workshop provides an opportunity to learn about the current and potential oil & gas projects in the region. This is a great opportunity that doesn't only benefit the national companies but the international operators and service providers who also contributes and see potential in unconventional resources.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

The workshop intends to offer new insights into understanding the specifics of the Latin American Unconventionals market and provide first-hand experience from successful operators. This aims to bring together oil & gas industry experts, professionals and academia interested in unconventional resources development.

This workshop targets technical professionals in the industry such as: geologists, geomechanics, geophysicists, reservoir, drilling and completion engineers who want to take advantage of the latest developments in Unconventional Resources in Latin America Market and its specific challenges for the future. The workshop will offer an exciting knowledge sharing and discussion platform to provide an interactive and integrated learning environment with opportunities to network through panel discussions and technical presentations.
