

Graduated in Medicine and Surgery by Eduardo Mondlane University (UEM) in Mozambique in 1993. Master's in pharmacoepidemiology by the Autonomous University of Barcelona (Spain) in 2000. PhD in Medicine by University of Barcelona (Spain) in 2009. Joined UEM in 1994 as a Pharmacologist and Manhica Health Research Centre (CISM) in 2001 as part of the collaboration with UEM, working mostly in the safe use of drugs and vaccines in pregnancy and other maternal and child health topics. Involved in the implementation of the National Pharmacovigilance System in Mozambique and other African countries in collaboration with the WHO. Currently, Associate Professor of Clinical Pharmacology and Director of the PhD Program in Bioscience and Public Health at UEM, and part-time Associate Researcher at CISM.