

Exploring the Perceptions of Cyberbullying and Cyber Aggression in Emerging Adults

Emily Smith, Dr Roshan Rai,
Dr Amanda Wilson, Dr Roshan Rai

De Montfort University

The background features several abstract, colorful shapes. In the top right, there is a green 'U' shape, a yellow zigzag line, a blue wavy line, a large light pink circle, a small brown circle, and a small light pink circle. In the top left, there is a small green circle. In the bottom left, there is a small light pink circle. In the bottom right, there is a small orange circle and a small black dot.

What is cyberbullying?

“An aggressive, intentional act carried out by a group or individual, using electronic forms of contact repeatedly & overtime against a victim who cannot easily defend him or herself”

— Smith et al. (2008)

The background features several abstract elements: a small green dot in the top left; a large, light pink circle in the upper right; a blue wavy line and a yellow zigzag line overlapping each other above the pink circle; a green 'U' shaped line above the yellow zigzag; a small brown dot to the right of the blue line; a small pink dot further right; a small orange dot in the lower right; and a small black dot at the bottom right. The text 'What is cyber aggression?' is centered in a bold, orange, sans-serif font.

What is cyber aggression?

“Intentional harm delivered by the use of electronic means to a person or a group of people irrespective of their age, who perceive acts as offensive, derogatory harmful or unwanted”

— Grigg (2010)

The same or different?

Cyberbullying

“An aggressive, intentional act carried out by a group or individual, using electronic forms of contact repeatedly & overtime against a victim who cannot easily defend him or herself”

Cyber Aggression

“Intentional harm delivered by the use of electronic means to a person or a group of people irrespective of their age, who perceive acts as offensive, derogatory harmful or unwanted”

Background

Cyberbullying is a "vague, inadequate and restricted" term, thus the term cyber aggression was constructed to encompass a broader range of negative online behaviours, such as cyberbullying, cyberstalking and cybertrolling (Grigg, 2010).

The term cyberbullying is considered as outdated, not very descriptive and is not well understood by college students (Crosslin & Golman, 2014).

Key Issues

- Research predominately focuses on children and adolescents
 - Primary focus of cyberbullying, with cyber aggression often overlooked
 - Inconsistent use of the terms cyberbullying and cyber aggression
-
-

Research Aims

- Understand how emerging adults perceive cyberbullying and cyber aggression
- Explore whether cyberbullying and cyber aggression perceived to be the same or different

Method

Pilot Study

Participants

Four undergraduate students aged between 18-25 (3 female, 1 male; mean age 18.5, SD = 0.577)

Outcome

Questions were considered appropriate and easily understood, however booking slots should be increased

Participants

- Twenty-three undergraduate students aged between 18-25 (19 female and 4 males; mean age = 19, SD = 1.434).
- All recruited through the Psychology Research Participation Scheme and were awarded course credit in exchange for participation.

Procedure

Three focus groups

- Mixed-sex
 - 7-8 Participants in each
 - 48 minutes on average
-

Questions

- 15 main questions
 - Opening, introductory and transition questions
-

Thematic analysis

- Braun and Clarke (2006)
 - Identify common themes
-

Question Examples

How would you define online aggression?

Could you tell me the difference between online bullying
and a joke?

Do you think there is a difference between the aggressive online behaviours first discussed and online bullying?

Results

Themes

1

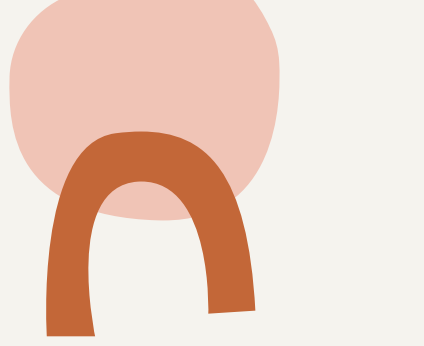

Unclear line

2

Part of the experience

3

Nothing will be done because of your age

Theme 1

Unclear line

“again it’s another one of those with like the sort of blurry lines at what point does it become (.) bullying and not just the odd comment”
-E27

“you could comment on their photos and stuff like that could be a form of bullying like it’s still using aggressive behaviours it’s like it’s like they intertwine with each other don’t they”
-E11

“it’s a dodgy line because there’s a blurry line as to when it becomes offensive to some people in it (.) ...”
-E24

Theme 2

Part of the experience

“If it was someone bullying me I’d just ignore it (.) but like if you’re willing to put yourself online you’ve got to have thick enough skin to be able to take some crap of people (.) and if you can’t then (.) you shouldn’t really be there...”
-E25

“Not really (.) unless you kind of turn off your social media [okay] it’s part of the experience”
-E24

“I think it’s become normal now for people to just be nasty and it to just be fine (.) like commenting on people’s things like your ugly and whatever it’s like they don’t even think about it (.) it’s just normal and acceptable I think”

-E05

Theme 3

“...if it’s in your messages and stuff (.) I think the only proper way is to take it to the police but it’s not really something anyone wants to go through (.) but there should be an easier way”

-E18

“but if you were to do it now it could be just as harmful for someone and nothing will be done (.) because your like what 19 20 years old”

-E08

“you can’t really go to the police about something like a little comment about something”

-E11

Nothing will be done
because of your age

Discussion

Provides an insight into how emerging adults perceive the concepts of cyberbullying and cyber aggression

Demonstrates how normal it is to experience aggressive behaviours on social media

Highlights a gap regarding support for emerging adults at university

Future Research

Investigate the perceptions of cyberbullying and cyber aggression in adolescents

Further research whether emerging adults can distinguish between acts of cyber aggression and cyberbullying

Explore the desired support for emerging adults who have experienced cyber aggression or cyberbullying

THANK YOU!

Does anyone have any questions?

emily.smith5@my365.dmu.ac.uk

EmilySmithPsyc

CREDITS: This presentation template was created by Slidesgo, including icons by Flaticon, and infographics & images by Freepik