"What an inspiring experience! Having spent most of my career in academia, it was incredibly eye-opening to gain insights into the Life Sciences industry and discover what life after my PhD could look like. From consulting, project management, and IP law, to entrepreneurship, the program covered a wide range of career paths. I also had the chance to connect with a wonderful group of like-minded peers — the networking opportunities were fantastic! A big, big thank-you to the organizers at Hyphen Projects, and to all the amazing speakers who made the week so inspiring!"

"To current PhDs or Postdocs, please don't limit yourself to only scientific events. During the past 8 years, it was easier for me to get lost in my own world and at times, nothing else seemed important enough to make time for. But even if you haven't yet made up your mind on a career trajectory, BioBusiness Summer School will only bring you more opportunities and widen your perspective."
