Application for the Position of Vice-Chair — Young Professionals Networking Network (YPNN), ESPN

Dear Members of the ESPN Secretariat and YPNN Selection Committee,

It is with deep conviction and genuine enthusiasm that I submit my candidacy for the position of Vice-Chair of the Young Professionals Networking Network (YPNN) within the European Society for Paediatric Nephrology. This is not merely a professional ambition — it is a reflection of the values I have built my career upon: collaboration, excellence, and a relentless commitment to the development of the next generation of specialists in our field.

Over the course of more than 17 years in academic medicine and clinical research, I have cultivated a profile that bridges the national and the international. As an Associate Professor, MD, and PhD at the University of Medicine and Pharmacy "Iuliu Hațieganu" in Cluj-Napoca, I have had the privilege of conducting research and forging scientific relationships across France, Austria, Monaco, Germany, the United Kingdom, Greece, and the United States. These experiences have not only broadened my scientific horizons — they have instilled in me a profound appreciation for the transformative power of cross-border exchange and structured mentorship.

As President of the Romanian Society of Pediatric Nephrology and an active member of both IPNA and ESPN, I am no stranger to the responsibilities of leadership within professional communities. I understand what it means to represent a diverse membership, to advocate for emerging voices, and to translate strategic vision into meaningful, tangible initiatives. These roles have equipped me with both the perspective and the practical skills necessary to serve YPNN with integrity and impact.

I believe that YPNN holds a uniquely vital position within ESPN — one that goes beyond networking to genuinely shapes the professional identities and trajectories of young specialists across Europe. Should I be entrusted with the role of Vice-Chair, my commitment would be unwavering: to strengthen member engagement through purposeful events, collaborative research projects, and structured mentoring programmes; to amplify the visibility of young professionals within the wider Society; and to harness digital platforms to foster a more inclusive, connected, and empowered network — one that is welcoming to members at every career stage and from every background.

I am deeply aware of the responsibility this position carries, and I do not take it lightly. I bring to it not only my academic credentials, but my lived experience as someone who has navigated the early and middle stages of an international career in academic medicine — with all the challenges and rewards that entails. It would be a singular honor to place that experience in service of YPNN and of the outstanding community ESPN represents.

Thank you sincerely for your time and consideration. I welcome the opportunity to discuss my vision and candidacy further at your convenience.

With respect and dedication,

Andreea-Liana Boț (Răchișan)
