Sponsorship Brochure

ARR 2025

We are very pleased to invite you to the Association for Radiation Research (ARR) meeting for 2025 near Keswick, Cumbria. The meeting will cover a whole breadth of topics related to radiation research and will provide a fantastic platform for interdisciplinary learning and development of collaborations with the radiation research community in the UK. We will have exciting talks from experts in their field, as well as opportunities for early career researchers to present through talks and posters. There will be great opportunities to network between junior and senior researchers, and to provide an inclusive interdisciplinary environment enabling the exchange of results and new ideas through social events, including the conference dinner.

The sponsor stands will be prominently displayed in the exhibition area of the conference facilities. This area will include the registration area, the poster displays and where refreshments will be served throughout each day. We hope to see you in Keswick and look forward to a very exciting meeting!

We look forward to welcoming you all to Lodore Falls and to a very exciting meeting!
